

2025-2026

First attempt of research for scouting analytics

Methodology and formulas

Primary inputs used in this report

Portal status was sourced from 247Sports transfer-portal lists (players shown as in-portal with destination unresolved).

Player season totals, size, and class were sourced from ESPN player career/stat pages for the 2025-26 season (FG/3PT/FT makes-attempts, rebounds split OR/DR, assists, turnovers, steals, blocks, fouls, points, games played, and minutes per game).

When total minutes were not explicitly listed on the season totals line, minutes were estimated as $MP \approx GP \times MIN$ (minutes per game). This preserves per-minute rates closely but can introduce small rounding error (because MIN is shown to one decimal).

Computed metrics and thresholds

The report computes the following from season totals:

- $3P\% = 3PM / 3PA$
- $3PA \text{ rate} = 3PA / FGA$
- $FTr = FTA / FGA$ (target $\geq .30$ for attackers)
- $TS\% = PTS / (2 \times (FGA + 0.44 \times FTA))$ (target $\geq 55\%$ with meaningful usage)
- $TO\% = TOV / (FGA + 0.44 \times FTA + TOV)$ (target $\leq 18\%$)

Because true AST% requires reliable team totals (team FG, team minutes) not consistently available on the same pages used here, AST% is marked “unspecified” where not independently sourced. In the interim, this board uses AST totals, AST/TO, and TO% to approximate playmaking/ball security until you pull AST% from a database (Sports-Reference/BartTorvik).

- Shoot(✓✓✓) = meets 3P% ≥ 35 , 3PA rate $\geq 35\%$, FT% ≥ 75
- Paint(✓) = meets FTR $\geq .30$
- TS(✓) = meets TS% ≥ 55
- TO%(✓) = meets TO% ≤ 18

Rubric takeaways by role

Lead guard is not just “AST”; it’s reads + paint touches + turnover control. In this board, the cleanest ball-security profiles are visible via TO% and low turnover totals relative to shot volume, while the most obvious playmaking profiles show up as high AST totals. A lead-guard shortlist should immediately pull true AST% and TO% context from the preferred advanced sources, then film-verify: (a) pocket-pass consistency, (b) skip timing, and (c) whether the guard can make “second-side” reads after the first action is contained.

Spacing wings in the ACC have to do it on real volume. The best “pure spacing gravity” types on this board pair high 3PA and strong FT% with respectable TS% but I still need to confirm they can (a) sprint into shots, (b) punish hard closeouts with one- and two-dribble decisions, and (c) survive ACC closeout speed defensively.

The rim-bigs need to be screen-capable and defensively playable, not just tall. Several centers here show strong block rates per-40 and/or elite offensive rebounding proxies, but ACC fit hinges on coverage versatility (drop depth, hedge ability, and switching in emergencies) plus foul control.

Build A: one premium shooter plus value pieces

Slot	Target archetype	Example target from board	Rationale
1	Premium spacer (gravity)	Rank 3	One elite shooting engine changes lineups and spacing rules.
2	Value lead guard / combo	Rank 2	Two-way combo who also meets spacer + FTr marks.
3	Stretch/Roll big	Rank 7	Adds pick-pop to punish drop and opens driving lanes.
4	Rim protection big	Rank 20	Defensive backline; blocks + rebounding proxies.
5	3&D wing value	Rank 11 or 25	Size + 3 volume at a price that preserves the cap.
Total			Leaves a small buffer for agent fees/late-market bidding

Build B: one premium lead-creator plus value shooting

Slot	Target archetype	Example target from board	Rationale
1	Premium lead creator	Rank 4	Primary organizer with spacing profile and manageable TO%.
2	Movement/volume shooter	Rank 1	Adds 3-point gravity to maximize creator value.
3	Rotation shooter	Rank 25	Shooting volume at size; “role acceptance” fit.
4	Rim big	Rank 21	Rebounding + rim presence in ACC play; vet FT/foul risks.

5	Connector forward	Rank 18 or 17	Glass + physicality; keeps roster functional without a 2nd premium contract.
Total			Cap-safe, offense-forward team build

Build C: balanced spread

Slot	Target archetype	Example target from board	Rationale
1	High-value spacer	Rank 1	Still the best shooting gravity target without breaking the cap.
2	Two-way combo guard	Rank 2	Secondary creator who also spaces and draws fouls.
3	Stretch big	Rank 7	Ensures spacing at the 5 in key lineups.
4	Rim big	Rank 20	Defensive identity / backline deterrence.
5	Wing defender	Rank 16 or 11	Size + switchability; developable shooting.
Total			Balanced roster without one player consuming the market
